

How do I get my approved and graded Self Catering property added to this website until December 2010?

Even if you are not in the current Ireland Self Catering Guidebook 2010, contact support@HolidayBreaksIreland.com now to get details of how to have your premises added to this website for the remainder of 2010.

As long as the property, or properties, are graded and approved currently, you supply text to suit the panels and a suitable image, each property can be added on the appropriate County Listings Page from as little as 29.00 euro (plus 21% VAT) .

When will the next Ireland Self Catering Guidebook be published?

The 2011 edition of the Ireland Self Catering Guidebook will go to print in October of this year, in time for its launch at the World Travel Market in London in November.

All current property displays on this website will be issued with an invitation to Renew for the 2011 edition during the month of June, with special incentives to book in early being announced at that time.

Approvals and Gradings for 2011

If you need advice on the approvals and gradings process for 2011, please see this website after Easter, when details of same will be available.

“Book Now” button does not appear to work on some properties

When I try to get availability details on some Displays, Gulliver says the property is not on the system. This may mean that the owner/operator has chosen not to be on the Gulliver Instant Reservation Service.

To check availability therefore, you need to contact the owner/operator directly by their website, email, phone or fax. And remember, as our website does not offer a booking service under any circumstances, you need to ensure that any booking made is confirmed to you in writing for peace of mind that your accommodation will be ready for you on your arrival. We advise that any booking made should be re-confirmed with the owner/operator 7 days before commencement of your visit. See also our Terms and Conditions page.

How can I get a copy of the current 2010 Self Catering Guidebook?

The Guidebook is currently available from any Fáilte Ireland Regional Tourist Office in Ireland, from some Northern Ireland Tourist Offices, through a range of newsagents nationwide and through Tourism Ireland outlets internationally.

In addition, a copy can be posted to you if you wish, at a cost of 4.00 euro, plus postage and packaging costs (8.50 euro in total). See the PayPal button on the homepage to action same. Once ordered, a copy will be posted same day to you.

My query is different to any of the above topics...

Send an email to support@HolidayBreaksIreland.com and we will respond as quickly as possible.
